International Geological Congress Banquetted

Elaborate Function Held at Rocky Mountain Sanatorium Under Auspices of Canadian Mining Institute and Mine Managers

The reception given the members of the C. I. excursion of the International Geological Congress at the Rocky Mountain Sanatorium on Monday night was the biggest affair of its kind yet held in Southern Alberta.

The gathering, comprising some sixty-five members of the congress and their lady friends, was the most representative gathering that has ever been on an international tour. Twenty-one nationalities were represented, including delegates from Austria, Belgium, Chile, Denmark, Egypt, Finland, France, Germany, Great Britain, India, Ireland, Italy, Japan, Manchuria, Netherlands, Newfoundland, Russia, South Africa, Sweden, United States and Canada.

This twelfth session of the geological congress is under the able leadership of Professor J. W. Trask, director of the geological survey of Canada, with J. McEvoy, of Toronto, as associate leader, H. E. T. Halm, professor of mining engineering, Toronto University, as secretary, and H. Frechette, of the Ottawa mines branch, as assistant secretary.

The party are also accompanied by the Hon. Louis Coderre, of Ottawa; Mr. and Mrs. Bedford-McNeill, of the Institute of Mining and Metallurgy, England; and J. B. Tyrell, of Toronto.

The party comprising 130 in number sat to a sumptuous luncheon at 8:30 p.m. The programme consisted of Albertan raised goods, even the rainbow trout taken from the Crow's Nest River for the occasion.

After luncheon a lengthy toast list was taken up by the chairman, O. E. S. Whitehead, general manager of the International Coal & Coke Co., Coloman.

J. L. Parker was called upon to represent the North-West Branch of the Canadian Mining Institute. He stated that two years ago he used his first pick in this part of the country as a prospector. He treated his subject under three captions, namely The Prospector or Promoter, The Operator, and the Stockholder. The promoter he regarded as the most important of the three. The prospector could locate the minerals, but it required a clever promoter to interest the capitalist and bring about developments. He wished the congress to realize the vast extent of our yet-unexplored resources, which lay dormant only awaiting the time and the capital to bring about the development of the greatest coal fields on the American continent. In 1904 the International Coal Company started operations on their claims at Coleman. Today the International mines are producing an average of 1700 tons per day. Operations of the Hillcrest Coal Company started a few years later, and the Hillcrest company are now handling over 1100 tons of coal per day. Other new developments are working along a similar line of progress. He believed that in ten years from now, instead of 8,000 per day, the mines of the eastern slope of the Crow's Nest Pass would be sending to market 20,000 tons of black diamonds.

It is Louis Coderre, Canadian minister of mines, spoke at length upon the mission of the present congress and what Canada had to present for their consideration. He believed that regarding the mining possibilities of Canada West one could hardly tell a lie today that would not be the truth tomorrow. The mineral resources of western Canada are yet only in an initial stage of development. What the future will bring forth we have no reason to doubt. He was pleased to note the great interest being taken by the West in the excursion of the International Geological Congress, and felt that the visit of that body will mean much to the increasing of the forest of capitalists in this great country.

Mr. McNeill, of London, England, emphasized strongly upon the warm hospitality accorded the congress on their present visit. On no occasion of their tour have they been so warmly received.

Other speakers included Dr. H. E. Rook, professor Mineralogical Institute, Halle, A. S. Germany; Dr. F. R. VanHorne, of the Case School of Applied Science, Cleveland, Ohio, U.S.A.; Dr. G. B. Eggli, Professor of Mineralogical Museum, Copenhagen, Denmark; C. W. Wright, of Sardulia, Italy; Dr. B. E. Fernow, Dean of Faculty of Forestry, University of Toronto; Dr. Frederick R. Peck, of Lafayette College, Easton, Penn., U.S.A.; Lord Edward Theodore Dabblin, Bergmaster in Gefle-Dala District, Sweden.

Wilson McDonald proposed the toast to "The Ladies", to which Messrs. C. L. Dunn and John Ashworth made suitable response. Mrs. Dr. Fernow, of Toronto, and Mrs. Bedford-McNeill, of London, England, also responded.

Mr. Ashworth in his remarks to the ladies referred to the interest they (the ladies) were manifesting in the work of this congress, as did also the expositions of such an assembly as this, representative as it was of all nations, meant much towards the peace of the world and the advancement of unity among all nations.

Chantaro Kido, Superintendent of the Geological Institute of the South, Manchuria Railway Company, of Dairen, Manchuria, was also a speaker. He felt surprised at the rapid progress of Canada in general, and believed that this particular part of the Dominion must become one of the greatest industrial centres of the world.

John Brown, manager of the Hillcrest mines and vice-chairman of the International Geological Congress, proposed the toast to the Congress. He welcomed the visitors in behalf of the Alberta Government, the Rocky Mountain branch of the Canadian Mining Institute, and of the coal operators of the eastern slopes.

Mr. R. W. Brock, leader of the excursion and deputy minister of mines, made the first response. Mr. Brock addressed the gathering at length. He expressed pleasure in being a Canadian. In the geological world Canada was taking a foremost place as a unit. The present congressional gathering was the most representative held since the year 1878. Since that time twelve such assemblies have been held. This was by far the most important, most representative, and the most distinguished congress that has yet been held. They recognized the true spirit of hospitality expressed by people of the west. While visiting eastern and central Canada they had looked forward to the west for typical Canadian hospitality. He felt the importance of his position in connection with geological work in Canada, and would therefore be disposed to do his utmost for the promotion and advancement of the mining industry throughout the Dominion.

Mr. Wilson McDonald entertained the gathering with his poem "The Snowshoes Tramp" and sleight-of-hand.

Mr. Roerig sang a couple of songs.

Every promise is due the committee of the Canadian North-West Mining Institute under the direction of O. E. S. Whitehead, for the manner in which the reception was managed, and particularly the management of the Sanatorium who flung their doors wide open and accorded full freedom and hospitality to the distinguished gathering.

Editor Quayle, of the Lethbridge Herald, and W. J. Bartlett, of the Enterprise, represented the press.

The Columbia orchestra was in attendance and discoursed excellent music throughout the evening, as did also the expositions of such an assembly as this, representative as it was of all nations, meant much towards the peace of the world and the advancement of unity among all nations.

Among the local guests were Mr. and Mrs. E. Green, Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Wilkerson, Mr. and Mrs. Smith, Mr. and Mrs. L. R. Robert, Mr. and Mrs. O. E. S. Whitehead, and Mrs. R. B. Buchanan, Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Porter, Mr. and Mrs. D. A. Macaulay, Mr. Riddell, Mr. and Mrs. Rogers, Mr. and Mrs. Quigley, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. McDonald, Mr. and Mrs. J. McKee, Mr. and

The Growth of the 'Movie'.

It is estimated that five million people
a day visit twenty-thousand moving picture shows, that half a million people are directly or indirectly connected with the industry, and that the invested capital is not far from $100,000,000.

Comparison and comment, says Here are the sums invested in a few of the old and basic industries of the United States, as shown by the last census:

Supplies of oil, 181 million; cattle, $17 millions; furniture, $27 million;
carriages, 181 million; and theatre, 316 million.

The motion picture industry already has made out better than any other moving picture industry, and even more striking comparison is with the printing and publishing business, which is one of the oldest and most widely distributed of all industries.

Motion picture stills more than a third as much capital as is used by that great business.

Forbes no doubt is not in the industry except the manufacture of automobiles has recently shown such astonishing growth as to be, for the first commercial exhibition of motion pictures was made only seven years ago.

But even more noteworthy than the financial importance to the educational influence of the pictures.

They are of history and science, and they put a new weapon in the hands of sociologists and sanitary engineers.

A soft answer, besides turning away wrath, frequently causes it. Today from an arriving home after a long journey, and there was no mood to submit to the inevitable catechism of the family.

There's Many a Slip

Button had been really poor in his day. At any rate, he had a job bringing in some money a year—that is to say, until the small came. After that he failed to get any job he got and he came permanently out of luck.

He was a poor fellow, a poor fellow,
said surprised, therefore, when Button
stopped him in the street one day,
and angrily exclaimed:

Do you know, I've just received the price of my life! I'm offered you a job this morning!

Offered you a job this morning!
D'you call that an insult? I thought you were looking for a job?

Yes, but not at a week's wage. Hang it all, I can borrow more than that from you.

J. Pierpont Morgan was always a stout man, and he would sometimes

Every Unrighteousness Is Sin—Divine Remedy the

No doubt the Son would have done this without any suggestion of a reward, but the Apostle suggests that a great reward was proffered Him. He says "Who for the joy that was before Him endured." His joyful obedience began when He exchanged the higher nature for the human. The same joy continued when, as the Man Christ Jesus, He offered up Himself, and was faithfully obedient to the Father's will to the very act, saying, "The cup which My Father hath poured for Me, shall I not drink it?" St. Paul further explains that it was the Redeemer's faithfulness and loyalty to the Father, in doing His will to the extent of laying down the human life, that became the basis of His still higher exaltation—above His prehuman condition. The Apostle says, "Wherefore God also hath highly exalted Him, and given Him a name which is above every name; that at the name of Jesus every knee should bow, of things in Heaven and things in earth." Thus, as the Apostle says, "He shall be exalted above all things by name."

Forgiveness of sin has two aspects: (1) the cancellation of the legal consequences of sin, and (2) the deliverance of the sinner from his loss, his imperfection. Jesus came into the world to accomplish both of these results. He came to satisfy the Divine Justice, giving His life as instead of Adam's life, which was forfeited by sin. He came to fulfill the Father's promise, being raised from the death state to a glorious state, with plenitude of power. He came to give to all men the opportunity for the release, or recovery, of mankind from the mental, moral and spiritual degradation brought about by sin.

Thus we read that Jesus died that God might be just and yet be the Father of all men, who believe in Jesus-of all who shall become His disciples and follow His leading and direction. Again, we read that Jesus came back to life to have to recover, that which was lost.

It was just like our great Heavenly Father to take advantage of the opportunity to show to the whole world to illustrate different characters of men and different degrees of His love for them. We therefore saw that the great necessity of the world would be the Messianic Kingdom, the powerful Reign of the Redeemer, the Kingdom of Righteousness and all unrighteousness, scattering ignorance, darkness, superstition, etc.

He foresaw that some of the human race would not be able to resist temptations, punishments, corrections in righteousness, in order to reach them the great lesson that all unrighteousness is a sin, and that sin is the cause of degradation, sorrow, pain, death, accord-

But while the great mass of mankind would need the severe lessons of the Millennium, the Reign of Christ, a certain class would be able to develop an eye, capable of seeing the development of the new age of faith by virtue of their desire to do God's will. These would be doubly precious in God's sight; for "without faith it is impossible to please Him," and those who could exercise faith in the things which are not seen, would be the peculiar treasure.

Therefore God has arranged to gather us into this special class in advance, and these He calls His Elect, the Church of the Firstborn.

This call, to which these respond is not so forceful as will be the call of the future; they must have heard the voice of the Father, and have heard the voice of God in the present time as well. Additionally, they must be led by the Father, and have faith, their path lighted only by the Lamp of God's Word. Thy Word is a lamp to my feet, a lantern to my path. I will not walk in darkness, but must walk in a narrow way, a difficult path of separation from the world. Not only must they strive to keep His commandments, but after the pattern of their Redeemer they must present their bodies living sacrifices, holy, acceptable to God, by the means of Jesus' sacrifice.

These are scripturally styled the justified by faith, the sanctified, or set apart to the service of God. These, under the typical arrangement of God with Israel of old, were pictured in the tribe of Levi, who were set apart from the remaining tribes to be God's special servants, and ultimately to be the instructors and guides of their brethren of the other tribes. So the elect class in process of selection since the ascension of Jesus—once Pentecost—are to be God's special servants by and by in the blessing of the world in general; for they are to be joint-heirs with Jesus, their Redeemer, in all the great work of His Millennial Kingdom, signed, arranged, prepared, for the blessing and uplifting of all humanity, and for the destruction of the wicked, intelligently, sinful and rebellious.

The Lord used crimson and scarlet as indicative of the most flagrant sins, and then declared that His arrangement for the forgiveness of sins through the great Redeemer is effective even for the very worst

There have been seven uncrowned queens of England. The first was Margaret, the daughter of Edward I. Money was scarce in the government coffers at the time and Edward could not afford the expense of a coronation. The last of the uncrowned queens was the late wife of Henry VIII, Anne Boleyn's successor—Jane Seymour, Anne of Cleves, Catherine Howard and Catherine Parr. The last of the latter is regarded as queen consort. Perhaps it was because Henry thought it would cause ridicule to have ceremonies occur at a time when the king was in mourning to Maria, the wife of Charles I, being a strict Catholic, refused to take part in a state function, which would compromise the king's position. According to the rites of the Church of England, Sophia Dorothea, the wife of George I, and mother of George II, was never crowned. Her husband and therefore cannot be classed as one of Britain's uncrowned queens. Caroline of Brunswick, the wife of George IV, was never crowned and present in Westminster hall at his Artificial Ears. Artificial ears are so skillfully made that they may with difficulty be distinguished from natural ones. It is said that when the person who has lost an ear applies to the manufacturer for a substitute there is made a mold of the remaining ear. If there be left any part of the other a mold of that part also must be taken to assist in the fitting.

of the artificial. Manufacturers assert that no two ears are alike and that it takes a skillful workman to prepare an ear from the mold or molds. When finished, says Harper's Weekly, the new ear is pasted on the stump or simply set in the position of the lost ear. It is really only the first artificial ear that is expensive, the chief cost pertaining to the making of the mold. Vulcanized rubber, which can be ben-

The Two Fine Things of Life.
Because it is an elementary thing to do it requires courage to buy or build a house. Buy! Build? The universal head becomes a pendulum of warlike oscillation. There are just two fine things open to most of us between the cradle and the grave. One is to marry and the other is to acquire a home, and the modern answer to both proposals is to get married and to get a home for one's family, so anxiously do they purport to enjoy it. Eliphaz Gilbert Emerson, in "The Intellectual Life," pointed out that the invention of railways had resulted in a return to one of the most marked phases of barbarism, nomadic life. Since he wrote we have

A Cosier For Recruits.
Nowadays the authorities do not advertise so alluringly for recruits as they did in the days of the British empire. In 1801 by British authorities called on men to join the light dragoons, and they were told that if they did so "you will be mounted on the finest horses in the world, with superb clothing, and you will be paid for your pay and privileges are equal to 2 guineas a week; your society is considered as a great recommendation, and you will be continued with the chance of getting a commission, or a buxom widow or Irish beauty, or a beautiful girl, or a young man out of employment or of a serious illness, or a young girl in the affairs of men which, taken in the good, leads to fortune. An item in our last issue would lead our readers to believe that Blairmore possessed unruly children. The "kids" desire us to state that it was the older folks who caused the annoyance, and that they (the kids) are old enough to know how to behave, and are disgusted with their superior.

It seems awfully mean to the Rocky Mountain Cement Co. to be refused payment for an expense for electric lights. The service is just what is needed, but in spite of this, if a patron's kicks about the service or about the price charged a specially-commissioned man is ready on the spot with the clipper.

Talk about a hold up game, but this is the worst yet! A 16 c. globe is giving an average of 4 c. p. light. If you don't a 16 c. globe and get a 4 c. light there you are expected to pay for the light YOU OUGHT TO GET!

Williams was elected president, with Rev. J. F. Hunter, W. H. McCrester and W. T. Young as vice-presidents. A vote of thanks was accorded the retiring president and secretary for the good work they might have done.

Billy "Single" Clifford in "Believe Me" at the opera house on Wednesday night drew a large audience. The entertainment was one of the highest character from start to finish, and from the comedian to the talented musician.

The music rendered by the three Chicago sisters was about the best ever produced to our theatre goers, and there is every reason to believe that a re-appearance of the company would attract more than a crowd would.

As it was the spacious opera house was taxed to its fullest by the crowd who gathered to witness the arrival of the famous Billy (Single) Clifford.

Thaw Escapes From Asylum.

Harry K. Thaw has made his escape from the Mattawan asylum for the insane at New York, following a period of confinement and fight for liberty since his killing of the White on Madison Square, New York, on June 26th, 1906.

Thaw made a wild dash through an open gate to an automobile standing in waiting, which it was thought conveyed him to the seashore thirty miles distant for embarkation to a yacht.

Later advices state that Thaw has been captured at Coaticook, Quebec, and the Canadian immigration authorities declare that he will be deported from Canada under the immigration regulations.

Thaw will be deported under the clause in the regulations which provides that any person who within five years of his incarceration in a penitentiary or insane asylum enters Canada, may be sent back as an undesirable.
